

Execution-context disclosure shifts resource and execution-time distributions

Each model configuration's executable task-only mean is indexed to 100%; lower values indicate lower observed use or time.

Every retained executable observation is visible. The 96 MB samples are independently generated condition-level observations.